Was this content useful to you? Perfect word game, Sex in the City quotes are full of wit and unabashed humor. Here's a refreshing collection of Sex in the City quotes for good time coffee reading. Charlotte: I just know how good I feel, if I see Christy Turlington, I just want to give up. Miranda: Well, I just want to tie her up and feed her lard, but that's the difference between us. Carrie: (For the big one) we're so over we need a new word for more. Miranda: I'm sorry if a man is over thirty and one, there's something wrong with him. It's Darwinian. They are re-washed or distributed. Detective: Are you Irish? Miranda: No, why? Detective: Because you have beautiful red hair. Miranda: Well, I think anyone could be Irish with the right colorist. Carrie: There are 1.3 million single men in New York, 1.8 million single women, and of them more than 3 million people, about 12 think they have enough sex. Carrie: I like my money where I can see it-hanging in my closet. Miranda: What happened to aging gracefully? Carrie: She's off. Carrie: When it comes to relationships, maybe we're all in glass houses and shouldn't throw rocks. Because you'll never know. Some people have settled, some have settled, and some people refuse to settle for anything less than butterflies. (Samantha is afraid to take the AIDS test.) Samantha: What if I have one? Carrie: You don't have one. Samantha: Sometimes it takes me a long time to get through a cold. Carrie: It's not AIDS, it's central air conditioning. Samantha: I Sexy. I'll try something once. Miranda: They're starting to die of us. Charlotte: Oh, my my Well, at least you didn't get up. Miranda: 35, and they die. We just have to give up now. Carrie: Well, on the bright side, that might explain why they didn't call back. Samantha: Hmm.Charlotte: How is he...? Miranda: Heart attack. Samantha: O.Miranda: In the gym. Carrie: You see, that's why I don't work. Miranda: My marriage is in a difficult situation. I don't have time for wax! Samantha: (Seeing a firefighter stripper) Hello, 911. I'm on fire! Carrie: Maybe some women aren't meant to tame. Maybe they just have to work for free until they find someone just as wild to work with. Carrie: Meaning?Mr Big: Nice dress. Carrie: Hearing that Big is moving to Nup, California, if you're tired of New York, you're taking a nout, you're not moving to Nabo! Charlotte: (Seeing the tacky floral arrangement at Miranda's mother's funeral) They had to say I'm sorry, I love you not you're dead, let's have a disco!. Samantha: (for girls) I think I have monogamy. I caught it from you. Carrie: Yes, he's in the air. Charlotte: I was a teenage model when the Ralph Lauren store opened in New Haven.Miranda: Okay, it was amazing that I could keep my lunch down just now. Miranda: Wow! The guy who doesn't want to get married! The movie at eleven! Charlotte: So, what church does his mother go to? Carrie: Park Avenue Presbyterian.Charlotte: Good church! This is one of the best on the east side! Carrie: What, are you ranking churches? Is there a guide to this? Miranda: Four stars. Great bread; disappointing wine selection. Carrie: Now I've laid down the gauntlet. He either has to tell you I love you back, or I think I'm going to have to break up with him. Charlotte: Well, how long are you going to give it to him? Carrie: Well, I didn't put an expiration date on the mood, but I think it got the expiration date of the dairy product. It's going to start to go down in about a week. Duncan: I'm just one of those weird male aberrations who prefers to be married. I like stability, I love the routine. I like to know that people are waiting for me at home. I think that makes me sound pretty bored. Miranda: Are you kidding me? You're the heterosexual Holy Grail. Carrie: So what kind of movies are you making? Patrick: Really bad. You know, I was screaming when I knew what you did last summer on Elm Street type. Samantha: You know, women dress up as men are very popular right now. Carrie: So I thought it was a Pokemon. Steve: Yes, I want a baby. That would be fun. Miranda: It's not like owning a foosball table, Steve. Aidan: Don't get me wrong, but this place can take up a bit of work. Carrie: I know, but I can't afford it. Aidan: You've got eight thousand dollars shoes in there. Carrie: I needed it! Miranda: (looking at The Bride magazine) Ooh! Cute purse! Charlotte: No purses! There's no time for wallets! It's a specific dress! Miranda: your theme again? A Nazi wedding? Carrie: I'd like to think that people have more than one other half. Samantha: I agree! I agree! there were hundreds. Carrie: Yes! And you know that if you miss one, together comes another. Like a taxi. Charlotte: I promise I won't be one of those mothers who can only talk about diaper genies. Carrie: Good.Samantha: What the hell is a diaper genie? Carrie: I don't know... Someone you hire to change a baby's diaper? Samantha: it's amazing! Carrie: I know! Why would anyone go to trouble making one when you can buy one that is so perfect and individual sized? (The performer starves himself and refuses to speak while on public display.) Alexander: Don't you think it's important? Carrie: Oh, please! There are depressed women all over New York doing the same thing as her, and don't call it art. Samantha: (on not getting a job because she's a woman) What does he think I'm going to do? Get my period and destroy his empire?! FBI Agent: (Samantha) Ma'am, can you take the handcuffs off so we can use ours? Miranda: He should be baptized and wear a dress. Carrie: The first drag show baby! Carrie: Oh! I forgot about the puck and the dryer! I've been dreaming about this my whole life in New York! Samantha: Who is the farmer with dells? Carrie: Young McDonald? Samantha: Ooh! E-I-E-I-O! Guy: This floor is non-smoker! Carrie: I'm addicted, sir! Carrie: It was a typical men's mix downtown. Ten percent of Wall Street, ten percent of real estate, and ten percent of Samantha had.- Charlotte: I made an offer to myself! Carrie: What? Charlotte: Yes. I offered him a tomato salad, and then I offered to get married. Carrie: Wait. What exactly did he say? Charlotte: Ok! Carrie: Okay? Did he say okay? Now I think it's frustrating not what you've been offered, it's that you've offered a guy who speaks well. Charlotte: Oh, Carrie, stop! Carrie: Okay. Charlotte:... You don't have to say that, Samantha, it's gross and politically incorrect. Carrie: Honey, reminder: Samantha is rude and politically incorrect. Miranda: She's a criminal of equal opportunity. Miranda: Have you booked twice? Carrie: How do you imagine pulling this one off? Charlotte: Early dinner with bachelor number one, late dinner with bachelor number two. Samantha: Oh my God, you're turning into a man! Carrie: Apparently Charlotte has done more than just break the pattern. She actually changed gender. Charlotte: I just don't know how I'm going to eat two dinners in a row. Carrie: And like this, she was a woman again. Big: I never thought about it. Carrie: Let's go on. Everyone wonders what happens after death. Big: I'm too busy wondering who's dinging my car in the garage. Carrie: If you keep saying that, I'm going to have to charge me a minute. Anthony on his camera: (for Charlotte's wedding dress stylist) Sorry, thought it was my mother. FIFTEEN phone calls to make sure I'm in the public eye. &lt;/Samantha&gt; &lt;/fast&gt; &lt;/fast&gt; Her cheapest sheets of bed, bath and friggin zat Carrie: And then I realized something, twenty-something girls are just fabulous until you see one with the man who broke your heart. Charlotte: Trey, you have a blunder... I can't discuss my records if you have a blunder.
